NOTES

- Will use CSS for layout to facilitate usability for varying screen sizes
- Sections outlined in dotted lines are universal areas that my or may not be (most likely won't be) actually outlined. This is the page structure that will be used universally throughout the site for consistency & so things don't jump around / move as user moves from page to page.
- Fonts throughout non-serif Verdana because it's easier to read
- Thinking that Blog page will be planned addition to initial implementation since blog content still in planning stages, although page structure not in question

NOTES

- Using side sections on this page to get as much of resume as possible "above the line" (avoids scrolling)
